GLOSSARY FOR THE UNINFORMED

- BAGEL (pronounced: "bay-gull"): A glazed, baked ring-shaped roll with a tough, chewy texture
- בלתיז (pronounced: "blin-ts"): A rolled pancake, similar to a crepe, typically filled with cheese and topped with fruit
- בורשט (pronounced: "bor-sht"): A Russian beet-based hot or cold soup, served with sour cream
- בורקס (pronounced: "bor-ekas"): A baked pastry in Sephardic Jewish cuisine typically made with feta cheese filling in a puff pastry or filo dough
- בריסקט (pronounced: "brisk-it"): A cut of beef from the breast or lower chest of the animal, full of flavor, tenderized by slow cooking
- בובקה (pronounced: "buh-bee"): Grandmother
- בראבל (pronounced: "ba-lah"): A braided loaf of yeast-leavened egg bread, glazed with eggs before baking
- EGG CREAM (pronounced: "eg-kreem"): A cold drink made with milk, U-Bet chocolate syrup, and soda water
- פאמילט (pronounced: "fah-misht"): Stressed to the point of the confusion, even meshugena
- פלאנקען (pronounced: "flank-en"): Very similar to short ribs
- גפילטע (pronounced: "geh-fill-ta"): A ball- or oval-shaped mixture of finely chopped pieces of fish, crumbs, eggs, and seasonings, cooked in a broth and served cold
- קאשאה (pronounced: "kah-shah"): A type of cereal made of crushed buckwheat or oats, roasted, then soaked and simmered
- קאשאה ווארנישקעס (pronounced: "kah-shah varnish-kiss"): Kasha mixed with bow-tie egg noodles
- קיפפרעד סאלמאן (pronounced: "kip-errd sam-in"): Salted and smoked salmon
- קיניש (pronounced: "keh-nish"): A baked (sometimes fried) dough filled with cheese, meat, potato, or vegetable
- קריפלאק (pronounced: "krep-lac"): A rounded triangular-shaped shell made of dough and filled with meat, potato or vegetable, much like a Chinese wonton
- קוגל (pronounced: "koo-gull"): A baked pudding of noodles or potatoes, eggs, and seasonings
- קוועטש (pronounced: "kve-ich"): Complain
- לאטה (pronounced: "lah-ta"): Fried potato pancake
- מאכער (pronounced: "mach-er"): A powerful person. Of course, at Wolfie's, everyone's a Macher, but we're referring to a powerful sandwich.
- מאטז (pronounced: "maht-sa"): Brittle, flat unleavened bread; like a cracker
- מאטז באלל (pronounced: "maht-sa bawl"): Sometimes called "kneydl," a soup dumpling made from a mixture of matzoh meal, eggs, water, and oil, or chicken fat
- מאטז בריי (pronounced: "maht-sa bry"): Broken pieces of matzoh mixed with eggs and pan fried; can be served in the form of scrambled eggs or in the shape of a pancake
- מעשענע (pronounced: "mesh-oog-ena"): Crazy
- נוואה סמוקעד סאלמאן (pronounced: "no-vah smohkd sam-in"): Brine-cured salmon, thinly sliced and cold
- רושין דרעסס (pronounced: "rush-in dress-ing"): Similar to 1000 Island dressing but less sweet and a bit spicier
- שניטצל (pronounced: "shni-tzel"): Thin slice of meat, breaded and fried
- שמער (pronounced: "shmeer"): A spreadable layer of cream cheese
- טרייף (pronounced: "tray-f"): This term is used only on this page because we don't offer it...at least as WE define it. Generally, it encompasses pork products and shellfish. ALL our meat products are beef, lamb, chicken, and turkey, but are NOT certified as "Kosher." Also, please note many of our meals mix milchik (dairy) and fleishig (meat) together, which is not kosher either. You might say, we're "Kosher-style."
